Join our Emerging Leaders program!

CISCA's Emerging Leaders is a four-year program that helps those new to the industry develop leadership skills and grow their professional network.

The program meets in-person three times a year—with one of the meetings being at a manufacturer's facility—and focuses on education, networking and industry discussions.

Participants engage with fellow professionals with aligned interests and goals, while a mentor is available to facilitate knowledge-sharing and assist with forming the peer group.

"The Emerging Leaders program has been a wonderful resource for networking and skill-building through the Interior industry. I have met colleagues and formed friendships that will last a lifetime."
